

Purified Air supplies leading photographic retailer

Complete air conditioning systems including duct work and electrics have been specified and installed by PURIFIED AIR, one of the UK's leading environmental control specialists, for The Jessops Group in three of their shops together with their head office in Leicester.

Jessops, who are Britain's number one specialist photographic retailer with 194 outlets, appointed Purified Air to supply air conditioning systems for their New Oxford Street, London and Torquay stores as part of a refurbishment programme to upgrade staff and customer areas together with their recently opened Manchester store. The new Manchester World Camera Centre store is located in Deansgate and is just 150 yards from Jessops' old City Centre store which was damaged in the Manchester bombing. Jessops decided to have air conditioning installed because of the heat build up during the summer months which made the environment unpleasant and staff lethargic.

Purified Air initially carried out a site survey (a service they provide free of charge throughout the UK) of all four premises to ascertain exactly what was needed in order to cool the area efficiently. They then specified and installed Fujitsu cassette units in London, Torquay and Manchester and a Fujitsu ceiling unit in Jessops' head office. The result for all four premises is a cool and pleasant working environment, irrespective of outside temperatures.

Purified Air are not only specifiers of Fujitsu and Hitachi Fixed Air Conditioning Systems, with whom they have a preferred supplier and installer status, but are also manufacturers of a range of Air Purifiers which remove 98% of airborne impurities including tobacco smoke making them ideal for installation in in-store restaurants and staff canteens.
