

Purified Air goes 'to the dogs'

Air Purifiers and Fixed Air Conditioning Units have recently been installed by Romford based PURIFIED AIR, one of the UK's leading air systems specialists, in the new grandstand at Harlow Stadium, in Essex.

Harlow Stadium, which is run by Leaside Leisure, a family owned company, holds dog races on Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays with an average of 600 people attending each evening. The stadium took three years to complete and the new, modern grandstand has two bars, both of which have large internal seating areas and serve food throughout the night. One bar, situated on the ground floor, is aimed primarily at families with children whilst the recently opened first floor bar, is for race going adults only. It was into these two bar areas that Purified Air installed 5 large ceiling mounted Fujitsu Air Conditioning Units, for which they have preferred supplier and installer status, and 10 of their own, in-house manufactured Airslim 1000 Air Purifiers. The Airslim 1000 is a concealed unit designed to be fitted into a suspended or false ceiling and is supplied with a wired remote control for easy operation.

Within a betting environment smoking tends to be heavy and tobacco smoke can be a real problem, not only because of the indoor pollution and resultant health problems, but also because of the damage it does to fixtures and fittings.

The Airslim 1000 from Purified Air can easily overcome the problem of indoor air pollution and it does not waste heat or cooled air since it has been designed to operate, very effectively, within a sealed environment.

The Purified Air cleaning system incorporates a powerful fan which draws the polluted air into the unit, it is then passed through an electronic filter where a completely safe 7000 volt static charge is applied, this electronically separates the particles then holds them in the filter so that clean, pollutant free air can be re-circulated back into the atmosphere.

Guaranteed to remove 98% of airborne impurities including tobacco smoke, the Airslim 1000 gives a clean, smoke free atmosphere and substantially cuts down the risk of passive smoking. Also, by keeping the air cleaner, the Airslim 1000 reduces redecorating and cleaning costs. The units are also, very importantly, easy and economic to maintain, in an average situation the filter requires replacing three to four times a year.

Purified Air's Airslim 1000 keeps the bars in the Grandstand at Harlow Stadium smoke free and makes 'going to the dogs' a more pleasant experience.
